June 2012 update from Ken Millwood

Dear All,

Welcome to the latest update on my book.

Firstly, to reply to all those who asked how I got on with the application for the full time manager's post at KCM. The interview went well but I was not successful. I am fine with this as it allows me to continue working on the book one day a week.

Next, a huge thank you to all those who have looked at my website. I am really pleased with it and going by the comments received back most of you like it as well. Please keep telling others about the website as this is now my main way of keeping folks informed about progress on the book.

Since the last update I have almost finished Chapters 9 & 12 and done some more work on chapters 3, 6, 8 & 11. Making the overall word count about 43,000 words. I'm still aiming to finish it in 2012, but not able to give a definite date at this stage.

Finally, I am very excited about what's happening in the last two weeks of June when I will be part of a small team going to Peru to share the gospel. As some of you will know I have been part of my church puppet team for several years. We regularly get opportunities to share the gospel but this will certainly be a first. We were invited last year to send a puppet team out to Cusco in Peru so this trip is the culmination of months of planning and preparation. We will also have a few days out to be tourists, travel on the Inca Trip and see Machu Picchu, the ruins of the ancient Inca capital.

This will also be an opportunity for the five team members to depend on God! We will certainly be out of our usual comfort zone. May even get a few stories to go in the book?! Please pray for safe travel and protection for us, and people to respond to the puppet ministry. And, No, I don't speak Spanish, but with Spanish backing tracks and translators the songs and sketches should be understood by the locals who watch us.

The next update will be available in August.

Kind Regards,

Ken
