May 2013 update from Ken Millwood

Dear All,

Welcome to the latest update. Almost June and this is my second update this year.

As I mentioned in my last update I made a decision at the start of 2013 to work through the draft chapters from start to finish. This is going well and I have now finished work on Chapters 1 & 2 and am working on Chapter 3 (how to depend on God).

I have now stepped down as Secretary of Keynsham Chamber of Commerce after 4 years in the role which has helped release more time. I am pleased to say the week immediately after I finished my last minutes I found I was getting ideas in the evening which I was able to start drafting right away – this was exactly what I hoped would happen, which is great. However, I have again discovered that being creative isn't a 9am – 5pm occupation. There has been more than one occasion recently when I had sudden inspiration just as I was going to bed which turned into a late night/early morning writing session on the computer – from experience I know I need to capture these thoughts right away as the good ideas rarely come back the next morning!

Several people have asked me when I expect to finish. I would love to give an exact date, but I know this is going to take as long as it takes. I am very mindful of one thing I felt the Lord saying to me about two years ago: that I still needed to learn more about how to depend on Him. It would be difficult for me to say it will be completed in the next six months as I cannot tell whether I still have more to learn – and therefore say in the book – about how to rely on God. I also know I am not the only person learning about dependence on God at this time. I was sent a prophecy only last week which was on the theme of character building and included the following quote: "Those of you who are very capable in your own right have recently found it extremely difficult to only be shown perhaps just the next step. Trust in me as never before and rely on me, not your own abilities."

The fact that God is teaching His people to rely and depend on Him when I know there are very few books on this subject helps spurs me on, as do the kind comments I receive back from many of you, so thank you for your ongoing prayer and support.

The next update is due in early August.

Kind Regards,

Ken
